ABOUT ME

I am an actor, standup comedian, improviser, and writer.

Some may say it is a far cry from the many years I held executive roles across the world (including in a diplomatic role at the United Nations), but quite honestly to be successful in those roles, if you could act (drama and comedy) it was easier to deal with all the corporate politics and hidden agendas. And the good news is it has given me lots of material to draw on!
